

Draw what is missing!

This is a good first unplugged activity, to understand the components of the board and what each one is for with the students.

